The Scavenger Hunt - Activities

Scavenger Hunt List

Wabbit created a list of things to find in the garden before he went outside. He made it just long enough to have lots of different things to look for, and not too long that it took all afternoon.

He took the list out with him into the garden so he could remember what he was looking for.

Wabbit's list included:

1. Five different types of leaves
2. Three different flowers
3. A beautiful rock or peddble
4. Something with six legs
5. Something that begins with the first letter of your name
6. Something with eight legs
7. Something that flies
8. Some lichen
9. A feather
10. Some moss
11. Something hairy
12. Three different types of seeds
13. Something mad-made
14. Something that makes a noise
15. Something straight
16. Something hollow
17. A drawing of something unusual
18. A tree rubbing
19. Something that's been nibbled
20. Something you've never seen before
21. Something that you only see this time of year
22. A map showing where you found everything

If there are things on the list that you don't know what they are, you can look them up in a nature book, on the internet or asking a friend or grown-up.

What else could you add to the list?

You could try taking the same list to different places – the park, into a town centre, by a river or a canal – and see how it might be easier or more difficult to find particular numbers of the list.

How might different things on the list be different at different times of year? What about leaves, for example?

Identify Nature

When you're out and about exploring the garden, you might come across things that you've never seen before – insects, birds, flowers that you don't know the names of.

You can look up their names and learn about them using nature identification books and online ID charts.

You can also use the iNaturalist app by uploading a photo and waiting for members of the iNaturalist community to make suggestions of what it might be!

This book was written and produced by Ignite! as part of a series for the StoryParks 2020 project, supported by Nottingham City Council and The Nottingham Building Society.

These activities are an extension of the storybook, and designed to help families think of ways to encourage children to express their curiosity about nature through exploration.
