We have a responsibility to help keep children and vulnerable adults safe online, whether or not they are using Ignite!'s network and devices. People associated with Ignite! must take care to adhere to the Safeguarding rules outlined above in online situations.

4. Record keeping and information security

- 4.1. Information held by Ignite! may need to be passed to the local authority and/or other external agencies (e.g. the Police) in order to assist any further enquiries and investigation. It is the responsibility of the DSO to ensure that such information is passed on to the relevant authorities as requested, and that it is completed correctly. So as to be as helpful as possible the information should include:

- 4.1.1. the nature of the allegation or concern;
- 4.1.2. a description of any signs of harm;
- 4.1.3. the child or vulnerable adult's account (using their own words);
- 4.1.4. any times, dates or other relevant information;
- 4.1.5. who is aware of the referral having been made and, if so, what has been said;
- 4.1.6. a clear distinction between what is fact, opinion and hearsay;

6. Confidentiality and Information Sharing

6.1. Care must be taken to ensure that both adult's and children's confidentiality is maintained and that information is handled and disseminated on a need to know basis only. Individuals must be confident that information held about them by Ignite! will only be disclosed to others either with their consent or when there is a legal duty to do so.

6.2. Good practice principles must be adhered to when handling personal information, that is:

- 6.2.1. personal information is obtained and processed fairly and lawfully;
 - 6.2.2. only disclosed in appropriate circumstances;
 - 6.2.3. accurate, relevant and not held for longer than necessary;
 - 6.2.4. kept securely.
- 6.3. Whilst Ignite! recognises that it is ordinarily best to gain verbal or written consent from an adult, child or parent/carer before any personal information relating to them is shared with another organisation (such as the local authority), guidance allows for the disclosure of personal information without consent of the subject in certain conditions, including for the purposes of the prevention and detection of a crime, for example where there is a child protection concern. The protection of the individual is the most important consideration.
- 6.4. In situations where a request is made by another organisation for information about individuals (staff, volunteers, vulnerable adults and/or children), the DSO must be informed, and their decision (including reasoning for this decision) should be recorded by the DSO and stored in line with Ignite!'s policies and procedures.
- 6.5. In all cases where information is shared the following information should be recorded:
- 6.5.1. date and time;
 - 6.5.2. summary of information shared;
 - 6.5.3. who the information was shared with;
 - 6.5.4. whether you are sharing with or without consent;
 - 6.5.5. how the information was shared.
- 6.6. Ignite! will ensure that any data regarding children and vulnerable adults is correctly stored and managed in line with these principles, and that it will take all appropriate action regarding the sharing of information as follows:
- 6.6.1. recognise that legislation is not a barrier to sharing information about concerns;
 - 6.6.2. be honest and open with the person about why, what, how and with whom information will be shared;
 - 6.6.3. seek advice when it is in doubt, without disclosing the identity of the person where possible;

- 6.6.4. share information with consent where appropriate and respect the wishes of those who do not consent to share confidential information where possible;
- 6.6.5. base its information sharing decisions on considerations of safety and well-being;
- 6.6.6. ensure the information it shares is necessary, proportionate, relevant, accurate, timely and secure;
- 6.6.7. keep a record of its actions, decisions, and reason(s).

7. Partner organisations

- 7.1. Any organisations with whom Ignite! has a formal agreement or partnership that could involve work with children or vulnerable adults, or in the presence of them will be:
 - 7.1.1. provided with a copy of this policy and asked to confirm that it has been circulated to any personnel who will fall within the scope of the policy and that these individuals have agreed to comply with this policy;
 - 7.1.2. provided with a copy of a specific risk assessment for the project and asked to confirm that it has been circulated to any personnel who will be taking part in the activity and are involved in mitigation procedures, and that these individuals have agreed to comply with those mitigations;
 - 7.1.3. asked to provide the event organiser or DSO with a copy of their safeguarding policy, risk assessments or similar (if they have one), and if the procedures and guidance contained therein are inconsistent with this policy, or if there is any ambiguity as to where responsibilities connected with safeguarding lie, the event organiser or DSO will liaise with the partner organisation to establish effective protocols to ensure that children and vulnerable adults are protected from harm.

8. Review of Policy and Procedures

- 8.1. The Board of Trustees at Ignite! will:
 - 8.1.1. review, approve and endorse its safeguarding policy annually or when legislation changes;
 - 8.1.2. undertake on-going monitoring to ensure that the related duties and responsibilities are being effectively implemented in practice; and

Appendix I – Procedures for Reporting a Safeguarding Concern

There are three procedures associated with this policy:

1. What to do if you are concerned about a child's welfare
2. What to do if you are concerned about a vulnerable adult's welfare
3. What to do if you have concerns or allegations about an individual or practice associated with Ignite!
 1. What to do if you are concerned about a child's welfare

There are essentially four key steps to remember, they are referred to as the 4 Rs:

- Recognising abuse or neglect;
- Responding to the concerns;
- Referring concerns on;
- Recording any actions taken and outcomes.

Suspicions or concerns could be raised in a number of ways, the most likely of which are:

- The conduct of an individual associated with Ignite!;
- A child 'disclosing' abuse;
- Bruising or evidence of physical hurt;
- Unusual behaviour by the individual.

If a child makes you aware of a safeguarding concern or allegation you should:

- react calmly and supportively;
- reassure them that they are doing the right thing in sharing the concern with you;
- listen, and take the concern or allegation seriously;
- keep questions to the absolute minimum necessary to ensure you understand what is being said and ensure that any question that it is necessary to ask is open and not leading;
- not criticise either the individual or anyone else mentioned;

- not attempt to confront the person alleged to have caused harm, unless the immediate welfare of the child or vulnerable adult makes this unavoidable;
- not make promises of secrecy or confidentiality – instead, explain that it may be necessary to tell someone else in order to keep them and others safe;
- explain what you will do next and who you will need to tell;
- take any immediate steps which are necessary to protect the person from harm;
- record what was said in writing as soon as possible after the discussion;
- report the concern or allegation.

Reporting a concern or allegation:

Concerns about a specific child should be reported as soon as practical by telephone to the DSO and confirmed in writing within 24 hours using the form at Appendix 1. Steps will be taken to fully support anyone who in good faith reports their concerns about such an individual and every effort will be made to maintain confidentiality for all parties whilst the allegation is considered.

If anyone identifies safeguarding concerns:

- Within Ignite!, report to the DSO using the form as set out at the end of this document (Appendix 5).
- Within an external venue, such as a school, these concerns should be reported to the designated safeguarding lead in the school. This should later be reported to Ignite! DSO who will keep a record of this.

Action taken:

The DSO will consider the report and take action which will vary depending on the situation. Actions could involve referral to Social Services or a relevant authority (Nottinghamshire and Nottingham City Safeguarding Children Boards' Safeguarding Children Procedures.

<http://nottinghamshirescb.proceduresonline.com>); taking advice (e.g. from the NSPCC Helpline on 0808 800 5000); or deciding not to refer the concerns to the authorities but keeping a full record of the concerns.

There may be up to three strands in the consideration of an allegation against an individual:

- A police investigation of a possible criminal offence;

- Enquiries and assessment by social care about whether a child or vulnerable adult is in need of protection or in need of services;
- Consideration by an employer of disciplinary action in respect of the individual.

Notes:

It is not the responsibility of individuals associated with Ignite! to determine if abuse has taken place - rather they are responsible for reporting on their concerns to the appropriate authorities.

Concerns that are anonymous or that relate to historical concerns (e.g. relating to previous staff or an incident that happened some time ago) should not be ignored and must be reported to the DSO.

Remember, do not delay reporting the matter by trying to obtain more information. Under no circumstances should you examine the child or vulnerable adult where they are alleging injuries. This is a role for medical personnel only.

If you are worried about sharing your concerns about possible abuse within the organisation, you should follow Ignite!'s Whistleblowing procedure; or alternative options include the NSPCC helpline on 0808 800 5000 if the issue involves children.

2. What to do if you are concerned about a vulnerable adult's welfare

The steps of recognising, responding, referring and recording are the same in situations relating to vulnerable adults, but the actions taken by the DSO may differ.

For vulnerable adults, actions should uphold an adult's right to self-determination and support that individual to make their own choices and control how they choose to live their life. However, the overarching principle is that the protection of the individual and others is the most important consideration.

3. What to do if you have concerns or allegations about an individual associated with Ignite!

Welfare of children and vulnerable adults must remain as the central concern: abuse can and does occur in any setting. Although it is a sensitive and difficult issue, abuse also occurs within organisations as well as in other settings. This could involve anyone who can have contact with children and vulnerable adults through their work.

Evidence indicates that abuse that takes place within an organisation is rarely a one-off event. It is crucial that those involved with Ignite! are aware of this possibility and that all allegations (current or historical) are taken seriously and appropriate action taken. When dealing with any allegation against an individual associated with Ignite! it is vital to keep the welfare of the individual as the central concern.

Circumstances for consideration:

These procedures about managing cases of allegations or concerns about an individual associated with Ignite! should be used in respect of all cases in which it is alleged that they have:

- Behaved in a way that has harmed a child or vulnerable adult, or may have harmed them;
- Possibly committed a criminal offence against or related to a child or vulnerable adult;
- Behaved towards a child or vulnerable adult in a way that indicates they are unsuitable to work with these groups.

There may be instances where there are concerns about the behaviour of an individual associated with Ignite! towards a child or vulnerable adult. The concerns may be very clearly abusive (e.g. hitting a child) or subtler (e.g. isolating a vulnerable adult). It may involve a breach of Ignite!'s Code of Conduct, or it could be an allegation made by a child/vulnerable adult, another individual associated with Ignite!, or someone else.

Process:

The DSO must inform the relevant authority of all cases that meet the criteria within 48 hours. In any of these circumstances the following procedure should be followed:

- Individuals associated with Ignite! are responsible for sharing their concern with the DSO who will explore the seriousness of the allegation/concern.
- The DSO, in consultation with the Chief Executive Officer and/or Senior Management Team, will determine if the police need to be contacted and/or the DSO based in the local authority of the home address of the individual associated with Ignite!. There may need to be one or more type of inquiry depending on the nature of the concern: a child protection inquiry, police investigation and/or (in the case of an employee of Ignite!) a disciplinary process.
- In dealing with any allegation, the DSO needs to balance: the seriousness of the allegation; the risk of harm to children or vulnerable adults; possible contamination of the evidence and the welfare of the people concerned.
- The DSO will require a written account from the member of staff/manager hearing the allegation/concern and a summary of any available additional information including the names and addresses of any potential witnesses. Both documents should be signed and dated.

- Investigations will be dealt with quickly, fairly and impartially. The individual associated with Ignite! should be informed about the allegation or concern as soon as possible in respect of timing, content and the question of suspension, but not before consultation with the DSO and relevant agency, where necessary. Suspension should be considered in any case where there is cause to suspect an individual or individuals are at risk of significant harm. The police and social care investigation will usually need to take place prior to any disciplinary inquiry (in the case of an employee of Ignite!) and the results may inform the disciplinary inquiry. The outcome of any investigation must be recorded and a copy kept on the individual's personnel file.
- Under no circumstances should the accused or their colleagues make contact with, or try to retaliate against, those that have raised the concern or those involved in the investigation.
- Those involved in managing the concern are not permitted to discuss the situation with others except for co-operating fully with those performing the inquiry. Failure to comply will likely result in disciplinary action.
- If an allegation has been made and the accused individual requires advice/support they should speak with the identified support person. The DSO will keep the accused individual informed of the progress of the case.
- If the concerns are about the DSO, they should be raised with the Chief Executive Officer. In line with the Whistleblowing Policy, if the concerns are about the Chief Executive Officer, they should be raised with the President of Ignite!. If the disclosure concerns the President, an Officer or member of Council, they should be raised with the Council.

Consideration of referring to barring services:

If an allegation/concern is substantiated and the person is dismissed, resigns or Ignite! decides to cease to use their services, then the DSO in conjunction with the CEO will decide whether a referral should be made to the Disclosure and Barring Service as regards whether that individual is barred from, or has conditions imposed in respect of working with children or vulnerable adults. If a referral is appropriate the referral should be made within one month. A referral must always be made if Ignite! thinks that the individual has harmed a child or poses a risk of harm to children or vulnerable adult.

Poor practice:

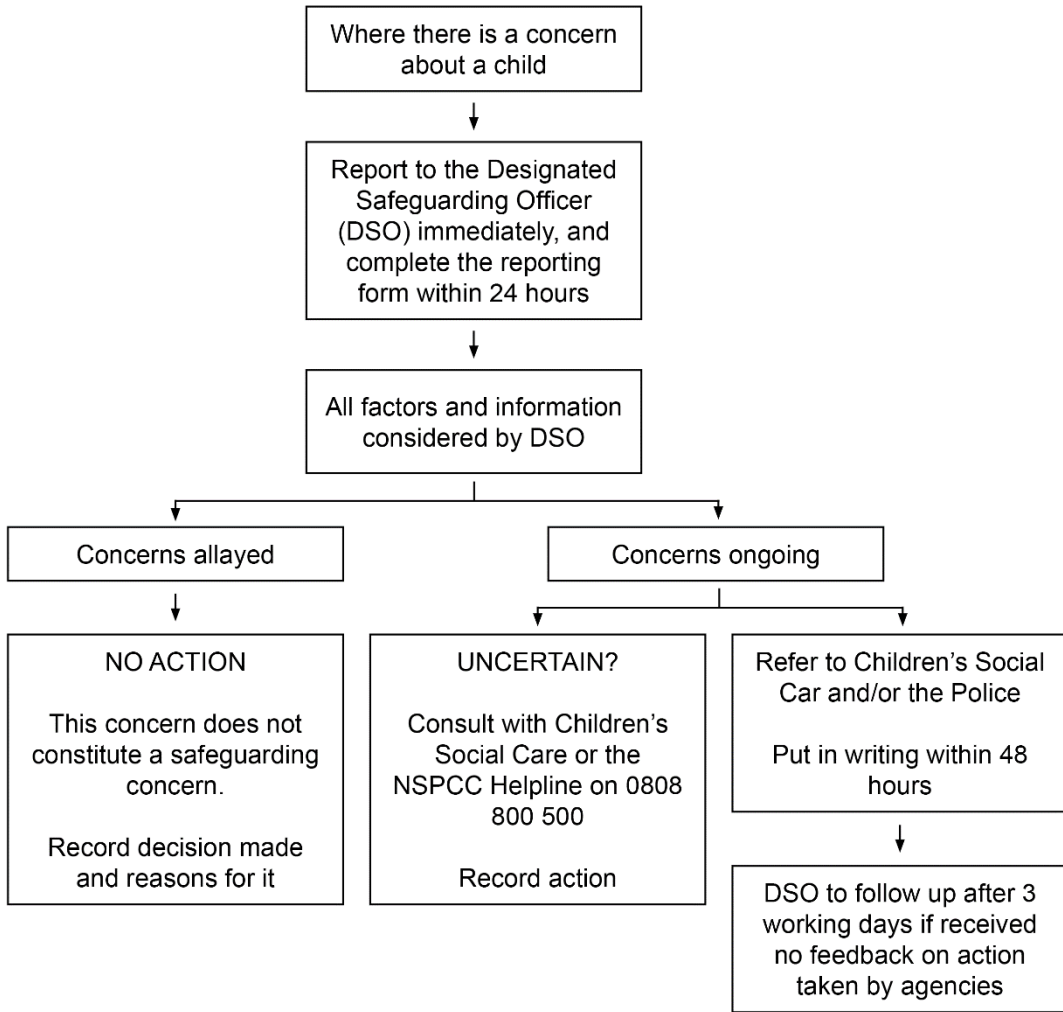

There may be circumstances, in the case of employees of Ignite!, where allegations are about poor practice rather than abuse but, where there is any doubt, the line manager should consult with the DSO. If the investigation shows that the allegation is clearly about poor practice then Ignite! will determine how best to remedy this, e.g. as part of its performance management, or disciplinary procedure dependent on the nature and seriousness of the practice.
